

BaMidbar Wilderness Therapy
Assistant and Lead Field Guide - Adolescent Program
POSITION DESCRIPTION

THE PROGRAM

BaMidbar Wilderness Therapy promotes whole-health wellness in the Jewish community by elevating the conversation around mental health and providing wilderness-based journeys of self-discovery, hope, and healing. BaMidbar hosts three core programs: 4-week therapeutic expeditions for Jewish young adults (18-28 year olds); 4-week adventure and wellness programming for adolescents (15-17 year olds), and an 8-day experiential educator course. All of our core programs use nature and adventure-based experiences as part of a therapeutic process that promotes emotional, physical, and spiritual wellness; use Jewish metaphor and storytelling to build personal as well as Jewish identity and values; support individuals in building strong and healthy relationships; and, increase open dialogue around mental health and addiction in the Jewish community.

Position Type: Full-time, seasonal

Dates: June 8, 2020 to August 1, 2020 (possibility to extend through September 15)

Location: Ramah in the Rockies Ranch

Compensation: $4000-$4250 Summer Salary

Schedule: Training June 8th-June 21st. Programming: June 30th to July 28th

MAJOR RESPONSIBILITIES

BaMidbar's Field Guides serve as mentors and wilderness guides for adolescents (15-17) struggling with mild to moderate social, emotional, behavioral, and academic challenges. Through applying therapeutic concepts, teaching technical and fundamental skills, integrating Jewish values and traditions, and connecting personally with students, staff serve as a support system for program participants. BaMidbar's supportive, strengths-based approach encourages students to move beyond their comfort zones to experience new, unexpected levels of confidence, personal achievement, and growth. Assistant and Lead Field Guide responsibilities include:

Support Student Development:

- Build a compassionate and caring group environment, while providing 24/7 supervision and oversight for students
- Maintain a healthy group dynamic by promoting inclusivity, communication, and conflict resolution
- Facilitate formal and informal essential and technical skill building opportunities for students
- Oversee a highly structured, participatory backcountry camp environment
- Integrate Jewish values, learning, culture, and traditions into backcountry environment and student learning

Risk Management:

- Manage group's physical and emotional well-being and promote a culture of safety in all aspects of field life
- Respond to safety concerns with appropriate and timely decisions and actions, keeping all BaMidbar staff informed

Other Responsibilities:

- Complete paperwork with accuracy and efficiency
- Inform treatment team and BaMidbar staff on important group and individual developments during formal and informal meetings and debriefs
